

FOAMAROMA® TESTIMONIALS

- 1 One owner/barista was in the process of taking FoamAroma for a test run. She made her favorite foamy latte and proceeded to put a FoamAroma lid on the cup when she proclaimed, "I love it already! Some foam came through the lid when I put it on, but I don't have to clean up any mess and I get foam with my first sip."

- 2 FYI, my daughter and I took your lids to Starbucks just now, ordered some grande' lattes, and did an A/B comparison to their SOLO lids. Sarah admitted to being skeptical, but is now a total convert. I think they deliver on all fronts. They work great! We also liked the way they felt more like a real cup on your lips. The whole experience was better. The first lid we've encountered that we would rinse out and keep in the car for re-use! Congratulations....
  - John Baker (August 2011) - Battle Ground, WA
- 3 Shortly after you left I made two beverages and threw on opposing lids, the black ones from Solo that you saw we had and the sample you supplied and you know what? Craig, you seriously have something here.

From one small business owner to another:

Hitting the ground and putting your product in the hands of the baristas that will be using them is going to be important. It's the only reason I gave you the time of day, lol. If the shop doesn't appear to be busy and if you can afford the marketing to do so, ask if the barista will make two foamy 12oz lattes, throw a lid on both, one FoamAroma and one of whatever they are using. Ask the barista to try both of them. You have to remember, the majority of baristas in quality focused shops don't ever taste their coffee out of a paper cup with a lid. Until I did a side by side, you were just another guy trying to sell me his lid gimmick. However, when I tried your lid, it was night and day. Your lid absolutely trumps the ones we are using. If you can get pricing to line up you'll be in a lot of cafes very quickly.

- 4 I tried a regular black coffee with the lid, since that is my usual order, and you can definitely notice the difference. The coffee cooled down more quickly, and after the first sip I was able to avoid the "wince factor" that usually comes with drinking coffee through the lid. Also, the flavor came through much more clearly than it usually does when drinking through a lid. You're onto something here!

6 I finally bought myself a Starbucks coffee and tried your lid on it. I had a latte and it was a wonderful experience! First, it was the way the lid formed to my mouth. Second, I was actually able to taste the foam WITH my coffee. Lastly, the coffee's aroma came through and made for a truly pleasant coffee experience. Thanks and good luck!

7 Just wanted to let you know, that I tested out the FoamAroma. I did not think that I was going to like the FoamAroma, but let me tell you that it was a winner. It really is a better design and I hope to see coffee shops across the country switching over to this lid. I'll have the full review on my blog tomorrow. Thanks for sharing it with me and good luck with this product!

8 I wanted to take a few minutes and get back to you on the Foam Aroma lids. First, thank you for sending us the samples; there really is no substitute to actually trying a new product. Overall, you've developed a great product, and managed to take an ordinary, daily use product & really make useful advancements, which does not happen often. The feedback I received from our to-go espresso+milk drinkers was overwhelmingly positive - one even saved his lid, he liked it so much. I also enjoyed it for our brewed coffees, but with a few reservations. On brewed coffee, even though when I tried to make a mess it stayed secure, the perception of a more open lid was slightly bothersome to parents carrying children or business folks with piles of documents. Again, it's primarily just a perception, but something I needed to take note of. All that said, you've got something great on your hands. We'd definitely be interested looking into pricing details & availability of stocking Foam Aroma lids. Please keep me in the loop on your distribution process. Thanks Craig!

- 9 I am sending you SPECIAL KUDOS for your FoamAroma 12 oz. Cup Lid. And, if you don't already have 1000 similar emails, you soon will! I thought I'd give myself a little treat this morning, and used your 12 oz. cup lid this morning for my first cup of java, expecting it to be a treat. Within a moment of my first sip, I could only say "WOW!!!!!! What an awesome product Craig has created!!!!!!" I can hardly wait to share it with my customers to hear and see their same impression. Thank you so much for allowing me a little preview, and I look forward to getting my order in the new year when the white 12 oz. lids become available.

- 10 Just a quick email to touch base and give you a bit of feedback. All positive I am glad to tell you, we have had some really positive comments. It's amazing to see the reactions. First they just think we are being time wasters or gimmicky then we do the comparison tests and they try it, some of the people I have shown it to promise they keep the lid to re-use once they get into the office. How good is that! I said we would prefer to wait on the finished production samples, however perhaps we should get some of your existing samples as offered (i.e. 50) over as soon as possible as I have run out, (or at least keep washing them out when demoing). Today's demo went fantastically well in the shake and taste comparison against our client's incumbent SOLO travel lid.

- 12 WOW!!! I love your FoamAroma lid!! I tried it with my hot chocolate and I am now a believer!! I have ALWAYS drunk from a straw to avoid burning my tongue on a hot drink and your lid makes using a straw obsolete. I could savor the chocolate aroma and the wedge-shaped drinking area fits perfectly to the mouth. I can't wait for your lids to be available everywhere!!

14 "Tea being more delicate than an average coffee based drink is affected much more when put into a take away environment, i.e. paper cup with lid, the senses are not allowed to explore the nuances of the tea's aroma reducing the pleasure one can derive from a tea. The existing sip lids have always restricted the enjoyment of a specialty tea as a take-out drink. With this lid (FoamAroma) you may well have found the Holy Grail for the specialty tea market to go." Tim has clarified that he is happy to endorse the product to all his clients who are serving the take out tea over any other lid. He also said, "I don't just like the lid I love it, it is truly innovative, and its simple clean design enhances a great product." Tim also told me that he is considering providing take-away tea now that FoamAroma allows his tea's aroma to be properly enjoyed.

15 BTW, we LOVE the FoamAroma lids... I never thought that I'd see people geek out about lids, but they have! I've got customers at the bar telling other customers about the lids, too funny. I am truly a BIG fan of the product! We work VERY hard to get perfect crema and perfect foam, and now our carryout customers are getting a better sense of the qualitative differences in our drinks. Also, curiously enough, I think it fits the Eco cups better than the Eco lid (though I'm not sure that they'd want to hear that).

16 Our customers LOVE this Lid!! Thank You for making them. They really like: the smell of the coffee, that the lid makes it easier to drink the coffee and that when they take a sip, it does not burn them to the max... Love the FoamAroma lids. Come in and see us sometime.

17 Wow! We love the FoamAroma lids. Kody and I saw them at SCAA before we opened and knew right then that we wanted to use this lid. Once we got them we tossed out the full box of the other lids. How did you come up with this great idea?

20 While standing in line for my Chai Tea at the grand opening of the new Starbucks TAZO Tea Shop I overheard the following conversation between two young women.

LADY #1: "You have to try this Chai tea, it is really good."

LADY #2: "Wow, this is good! I wonder why it is so good?"

LADY #1: "I think it is the lid."

22 One of the comments I hear from people seeing FoamAroma for the first time without trying it out is, "Won't it spill more with two larger holes?" Then after they try their own spill test they are amazed at how FoamAroma allows less spillage than the typical lid. Also, I have a business customer nearby that orders 15 – 20 drinks at a time for delivery. We premake all of the drinks, put them in a tray, then load them in the car for delivery. When we arrive maybe one of the drinks had spilled and all of that spillage is contained in the FoamAroma reservoir.

23 I heard about FoamAroma because I got a cup of coffee at a shop at the City College of San Francisco on a visit - and from my second or third sip, I was all "what is up with this lid - it's amazing!" I wish you had a PDF that was highly visual and exciting looking that I could give to my favorite coffee shops that says something to the effect of "One of your customers would like to see you using these lids" - and show them a few reasons why it's better. Let me know if you make one and I'll print some out and give them to my two favorite shops :)

24 Progressive Supplies (www.progressivesupplies.com) imports FoamAroma into London and distributes throughout Europe and the Middle East. The dialogue below was with one of Progressive's customers after receiving their first shipment of FoamAroma.

Minkies: "Our customers RAVE about the lids. It's hot."

Progressive: "Have you had any comments or reactions about the lids?"

Minkies: "Our customers love them, we get really strong comments about them. We love them too, the lid makes the difference."

25 Below is a comment thread via FaceBook on January 14, 2013, from the owner of a new chai tea café.

FoamAroma: "Congratulations to you on the opening of your new cafe. Looks like you were able to order the FoamAroma lids in time. Best Wishes!"

26 The clever hole in the lid allows the scent of the tea to escape, right below one's nose which further enhances the drinking experience. And the lid's construction is of good quality & fit.

27 To answer your question about the taste test, let's put it this way, Carol would not have even been asked to check what our landed cost would be had the taste test been anything but impressive. I prepared two different colored thermoses of the exact same 100% Kona coffee and used your black lid on cups from one colored thermos and our white lid with the other colored thermos. I asked them to put the cup of coffee they thought tasted better in front of my seat. 8 out of 10 of those cups had black lids. Some had trouble picking one, others immediately said the black lid had better coffee in it. They couldn't believe it when I told them they were drinking the same coffee, in the same cup, with different lids.

29 We met you and Craig at the coffee festival and took some samples of your lids to try out. For the past week I've been using them when buying coffee and they work very well. I like very much how they cool the coffee quicker, let the aroma flow from the cup and the enlarged hole from which to drink. Overall I don't have any features I didn't like!

30 Thanks for the e-mail and the FoamAroma samples. We will be using your lids on day one. We do not want to be like everyone else and we really like your lids. I did have to test it out myself, so I filled one of our cups up with water and put your lid on it. I then drove around town running errands for a couple of hours and not one drop spilled, so we decided we would use them.

I tried the FoamAroma lids at CoffeeFest Chicago 2013 and was very impressed. I got a sample and drove 30 miles with that lid on my coffee as a test. I was delighted that it allowed me to smell the coffee I was drinking but had no spills or splashes or leaks etc. It works exactly as advertised and I'm replacing my current lids with these. Thanks Craig

33 YouTube taste test video:

Another very cool video of someone's very first FoamAroma experience. Nico is the Head Barista at The London Barista School where they now have a course on offering the best take away drinks. Please note how Nico gets a mouth full of foam and gives the classic "Ahh Haa Moment" face. In Nico's own words. "It is completely different. It is another world."

YouTube Caption: We just made a latte in a paper hot cup with a standard design ToGo lid, then made the same using the FoamAroma ToGo lids on top of our Aroma8 cups. The first cup had a reaction we are all familiar with i.e. "Yep, this is what I expect, nothing special." Now watch this..... The Head Barista, of The London Barista School; Nico, wanted to try out the lid as he has created a module for their barista training course on the importance of serving the best ToGo coffee which includes the right choice of cup and lid - The cup is the vessel the lid is the delivery system, are you providing the best for your customers?

34 Thanks sooo much for inventing Foam Aroma lids they're the best. I've always thought it's such a shame when coffee places put lids on immediately and it overheats the foam - detracting from the first sip experience. Minkies in Kensal Rise, London have started using them and wanted to wish you luck distributing them more widely in the UK

37 We were visiting London for a couple of days to check out the coffee scene. On our way between coffee shops and roasteries we walked past a small cart where they were brewing great tea and serving it in take away cups with FoamAroma Lids. I think it was close to Kings Cross station. The experience was amazing and I'm sure it works just as well for coffee. We've been in the Specialty Coffee industry for about 12 years and have won many national championships during the years. We're considered to be one of the top roasteries in Sweden. I think that your product is exceptional with hot quality beverages and quite easy to get out on the market.

38 You know, I need to start filming some of the feedback I'm getting from my customers on the lid. I make it a point to tell them all the reasons why they're getting something special from me, including the lid. And when I explain what it is and what its purpose is, I can see the light bulb come on for them. They already feel like they're getting something really special, but when I tell them about the lid it really sinks in that they're having and experience NOBODY ELSE IN THE WORLD is. It's awesome! And I'll be honest with you, I would be a great testimonial for you because (this is no exaggeration) every single day I run the truck, I am told by customers how much they love my product. At least once a day I hear "This is the best _____ I've ever had!!!" It helps that I've developed drinks, recipes and products that are only available on the truck, and that I have control over my product from the roaster level up. The lid takes what I'm doing and amplifies it, so I love it.

39 Greetings Craig, I was given your contact information by Chris at Ernest Packaging in Portland, Oregon. I had previously purchased the Foam Aroma lids from Ernest Packaging but when going to place an order yesterday, was told they no longer stock them. Chris said you could direct me to a local supplier from whom I could purchase more? We love these lids and actually have customers comment on them and how much they like them so, I would love to purchase more. Please let me know how we can make this happen.

41 I have been going to a new coffee shop near my work in downtown Dallas called Urban Blend. I love this coffee shop because they carry high grade beans, European standard chai, and almond milk! Today as I was enjoying my brew, I noticed your lid, and immediately realized how brilliant and wonderful your invention is. Primarily, I'd like to say thank you for following this idea through to creation! I have worked with many entrepreneurs and know it's not easy. 43 Thanks for the info. I just contacted my distributor and requested that they carry the AromaSnap. We are really excited to carry them! They will be super popular with our customers. We have had so many requests for them it's ridiculous! Things with Pines have been taking off more and more every month! You'll have to come visit us the next time you are up in our neck of the woods. During Coffee Fest we ran out of your lids and had to go to Solo lids for a couple days. 44 Hi, Craig. The trial is now over. When we have our meeting tomorrow, I am going to recommend we get a case. The trial was interesting. Somehow, this thing has become my baby at the shop, so I gave out the majority of the lids. It took me about a week to do so because I only gave them to my to-go regulars because I knew they would return to give me feedback. Therefore, I was also able to give most of them multiple lids. Customer reactions have been very interesting. Most times they are in a hurry, but I clearly explained why the lids are superior and why it is good for their coffee-drinking experience. Most folks did not seem to understand right off that one lid can be better than another. After a few cups, a lot of them came around. Many people really like the snaps. Others like the better airflow. Finally, on Sunday, one of my testers came in and said, "Bill, I love these lids, man! Let's do this!" Also, our owner, who drinks hot tea, likes them a lot too.

48 Changed out the lid to a FoamAroma that was brought to us at SCAA headquarters and no lie, I can taste the flavors in my latte better, it's easier to drink, and I'm getting more foam. I want to see these in all coffee shops everywhere. But in the meantime, I'm just going to keep one in my car and reuse it as long as I can! P.S. This is totally unsolicited, I just wanted to try it and now I'm a believer!

53 Thank you for a great meeting in London. You have found true believers in the magic of FoamAroma. You just cemented the feeling I already got from trying it out the first time a few days before. If you feel that we could represent the product, we are willing to do what we can to fill those containers and be your partner for Scandinavia. We visited one of our best customers here locally in Gothenburg last week and I brought a sample. 57 An underlying dilemma in the coffee industry is the push & pull between convenience and quality. For coffee shop owners with a strong "to-go" presence, offering disposable cups/lids is a must. This has always meant sacrificing a full flavor and aromatics with a traditional to-go lid. The introduction of FoamAroma lids revolutionizes this aspect, allowing customers to taste every nuance one would get from a porcelain cup. If you care about the quality of your coffee, you owe it to your customers to pay equal attention to your lids as well.

59 FoamAroma samples arrived. Wonderful & awesome! They fit our Imex cups perfectly. We ordered from The Daily Java on Tuesday and received it on Wednesday. We're so happy to have lids that work!

61 My partner, Garry, and I are opening a coffee bar in Houston Texas and have only recently heard about your coffee lids. I am very excited to hear someone has already solved all of my most hated things about take away coffee lids.

62 Good morning, Craig. We tested [FoamAroma] with 3 people. Two of them noticed a significant difference. The other did not. We'll be placing our order in August for Sept 1 start! Thank you so much....

63 I had no idea this had been on Dragon's Den. I've just watched the clip. We wish you every success and look forward to the samples being sent out, we're certain our customers will like them as much as us! We currently use cups and lids from a great stockist, however, the lids are noisy when you take a sip and some people even dribble.....nice! So....when I got the pleasure of sipping a latte walking towards the William Wallace memorial last Friday, it wasn't the famous landmark we were talking about....it was how comfortable the FoamAroma lid was seriously! Being an owner of a good quality independent bakery/coffee shop makes you appreciate the finer coffee experiences.....even if it is just a lid! It totally works. No question.

64 I am a resident of Jacksonville, FL, where the Foam Aroma lids are used in the two major coffee shops that I frequent, Bold Bean and Brew. I absolutely love your lids. I have been singing the praises of these lids ever since I discovered them about two years ago. Of course it is ideal to sit down and enjoy a cup of joe from a mug, but too often many of us are running behind in the morning. The Foam Aroma lid almost FORCES one to get lost in the sense of smell and the memories that come rushing back. It brings with you the experience of a unique, delicious cup of coffee, instead of simply using the liquid as morning caffeine fuel. I am the envy of my friends across the United States, having the lids at my local coffee shops here in Jacksonville. I am currently working in medical device sales down in Jacksonville, but I would love to become a part of the Foam Aroma team. I was interested in seeing if you have ANY spots open for a coffee enthusiast. I am from Minneapolis, MN originally, but could certainly re-locate. Let me know if there's any way I could help you out!

65 I have been singing the praises of FoamAroma lids since [I first used one over a year ago]. My personal friends and coffee shop owners at Lattes on Location service the coffee bar at Northplace Church in Sachse, Texas. I told them about your product years ago but I was SO pleasantly surprised when I went to get my coffee yesterday and there were FoamAroma lids available. I got so excited and it just jogged my memory. I wanted to tell you that I still think your product is awesome!

66 I've been using your lids for several years now and absolutely LOVE them, as do my customers. A friend is opening a coffee business in mid-Missouri and after visiting my shop recently, fell in love with your lids and would like to use them in his shop. I would like to know if you have a distributor in that area from whom he could purchase? Please let me know. Thank you!

67 Thank you for your prompt reply, I found about FoamAroma with a morning coffee from a random coffee shop this morning in Liverpool Street (Tube station). While walking with it and arriving at work I realised the lid and the cool functionality it had. I immediately showed my Director of Food & Beverage who really much enjoyed it.

68 You really do have quite the great product there and I do think brown would be a good color for your lids. When we decide to sell lids again FoamAroma lids will be our only choice. We loved your lids when we had our retail shop and our clients did too.

69 I saw this product in Portland at Coffeefest 2015, had samples and tried them there. Now that I have my own shop I want to try it with my own offerings, since my focus is a little more on quality and experience than my previous employer.
